

IRISH FAMILY HISTORY FORUM

PRESENTS

DNA in Irish Family History

Saturday, February 15, 2025

At the Freeport Memorial Library

DNA testing can add significantly to one's family history research. But it can also be confusing. Professional genealogist Claire Bradley joins the Irish Family History Forum (IFHF) to help unlock the mystery of DNA testing. She will explain the various types of tests available, with a special focus on autosomal DNA, and guide us through the language of DNA. Ms. Bradley will demonstrate how to use DNA tests to further your Irish ancestor research, discuss the ethics of testing, and examine the possibility of uncovering a family secret.

Our Speaker. Claire Bradley, Director of Irish Studies at the International Institute of Genealogical Studies, is a frequent speaker at family history and historical societies.

New Meeting Location. Join the Forum on February 15, 2025, at the Freeport Memorial Library, 144 West Merrick Road, Freeport, NY 11520. The meeting at the library is open to the public. Dues-paying members of the Forum have the option to dial in from home via Zoom; to register for the Zoom meeting, visit our website at www.ifhf.org.

Meeting Schedule.

10:45 a.m.: Business Announcements

11:00 a.m.: Presentation

Zoom available for IFHF Members Only

Be sure to check www.ifhf.org for meeting or schedule changes.

The Irish Family History Forum (IFHF) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to promoting and encouraging the study of Irish genealogy and family history. Reach us at P.O. Box 67, Plainview, New York 11803-0067, at info@ifhf.org or by visiting our website at www.ifhf.org